I. Basis of the opinion

1. With regard to the elements of the international application (Replacement sheets which have been furnished to the receiving Office in response to an invitation under Article 14 are referred to in this opinion as "originally filed"):

Description, Pages

1-10 as originally filed

Claims, Numbers

1-19 as originally filed

Drawings, Sheets

1/7-7/7 as originally filed

2. With regard to the language, all the elements marked above were available or furnished to this Authority in the language in which the international application was filed, unless otherwise indicated under this item.

These elements were available or furnished to this Authority in the following language: , which is:

- ☐ the language of a translation furnished for the purposes of the international search (under Rule 23.1(b)).
- ☐ the language of publication of the international application (under Rule 48.3(b)).
- ☐ the language of a translation furnished for the purposes of international preliminary examination (under Rule 55.2 and/or 55.3).

3. With regard to any nucleotide and/or amino acid sequence disclosed in the international application, the international preliminary examination was carried out on the basis of the sequence listing:

- ☐ contained in the international application in written form.
- ☐ filed together with the international application in computer readable form.
- ☐ furnished subsequently to this Authority in written form.
- ☐ furnished subsequently to this Authority in computer readable form.
- ☐ The statement that the subsequently furnished written sequence listing does not go beyond the disclosure in the international application as filed has been furnished.
- ☐ The statement that the information recorded in computer readable form is identical to the written sequence listing has been furnished.

4. The amendments have resulted in the cancellation of:

- ☐ the description, pages:
- ☐ the claims, Nos.:
- ☐ the drawings, sheets:

5. ☐ This opinion has been established as if (some of) the amendments had not been made, since they have been considered to go beyond the disclosure as filed (Rule 70.2(c)).

6. Additional observations, if necessary:

III. Non-establishment of opinion with regard to novelty, inventive step and industrial applicability

1. The questions whether the claimed invention appears to be novel, to involve an inventive step (to be non-obvious), or to be industrially applicable have not been and will not be examined in respect of:

☐ the entire international application,

☒ claims Nos. 14-19

because:

☐ the description, claims or drawings (indicate particular elements below) or said claims Nos. are so unclear that no meaningful opinion could be formed (specify):

☐ the claims, or said claims Nos. are so inadequately supported by the description that no meaningful opinion could be formed.

☒ no international search report has been established for the said claims Nos. 14-19

2. A written opinion cannot be drawn due to the failure of the nucleotide and/or amino acid sequence listing to comply with the Standard provided for in Annex C of the Administrative Instructions:

☐ the written form has not been furnished or does not comply with the Standard.

☐ the computer readable form has not been furnished or does not comply with the Standard.

Re Item V

Reasoned statement with regard to novelty, inventive step or industrial applicability;
citations and explanations supporting such statement

1. Claim 1

- 1.1. Document DE 196 33 973 (D1), which is considered to represent the closest state of the art, discloses an accessory arrangement for a refrigerator door, in which the accessories in the form of shelves (25). D1 discloses that the door (10) of the refrigerator has an internal wall (14) carrying retaining means (17, 18), which are identical to each other and disposed according to horizontal rows and vertical columns that are spaced from each other according to a predetermined standard, so that each retaining means can receive and retain, simply by fitting a respective engaging means (32) incorporated to one of the shelves to be removably affixed to the internal wall (11) of the door (10). The distances between the vertical columns of the retaining means and the widths of the shelves is designed so that the useful width of the internal wall can be fully occupied with multiple accessories adjacently disposed side by side, each shelf having at least one engaging means fitted in a respective retaining means (col. 4, lines 44-50).

The subject-matter of claim 1 differs from the accessory arrangement of D1 only in that the arrangement further comprises accessories in the form of can holders and wire frame shelves.

However, it is well known in the art to provide this kind of accessories in a refrigerator door in order to support different products (see for example document DE 295 19 436 U, which shows wire frame shelves or EP 1 030 141, which shows a refrigerator door provided with shelves and a can holder).

Therefore, the addition of can holders and wire frame shelves in the arrangement disclosed in D1 is matter of normal design and does not involve any inventive skill.

The subject-matter of claim 1 does not therefore involve an inventive step (Article 33(3) PCT).

- 1.2. Furthermore, claim 1 does not meet the requirements of Article 6 PCT because the subject-matter for which protection is sought is not clear. Claim 1 attempts to define an accessory arrangement by reference to a refrigerator door which is not part of the claimed arrangement (cf. PCT Guidelines, PCT/GL/3 III, 4.8a). In order to remove the lack of clarity caused thereby, the claim should relate to a refrigerator door with an accessory arrangement.

2. Claims 2 and 13

The additional features of dependent claims 2 and 13 are also disclosed in document D1. Therefore, also the subject matter of claims 2 and 13 does not involve an inventive step for the same reasons stated above.

- 3. Dependent claims 3-12 contain a great number of features referring to the different embodiments of certain details of the subject-matter of independent claim 1. At present, it is not foreseeable in which combination the applicant perceives an inventive concept.

The applicant is therefore invited, in his letter of reply, to give a statement of the inventive concept he is looking to protect. New claims must be drafted expressing the inventive concept and taking into account the above comments.

INTERNATIONAL PRELIMINARY EXAMINATION REPORT

5. ☐ This report has been established as if (some of) the amendments had not been made, since they have been considered to go beyond the disclosure as filed (Rule 70.2(c)).

(Any replacement sheet containing such amendments must be referred to under item 1 and annexed to this report.)

6. Additional observations, if necessary:

III. Non-establishment of opinion with regard to novelty, inventive step and industrial applicability

1. The questions whether the claimed invention appears to be novel, to involve an inventive step (to be non-obvious), or to be industrially applicable have not been examined in respect of:

☐ the entire international application,

☒ claims Nos. 14-19

because:

☐ the description, claims or drawings (indicate particular elements below) or said claims Nos. are so unclear that no meaningful opinion could be formed (specify):

☐ the claims, or said claims Nos. are so inadequately supported by the description that no meaningful opinion could be formed.

☒ no international search report has been established for the said claims Nos. 14-19

2. A meaningful international preliminary examination cannot be carried out due to the failure of the nucleotide and/or amino acid sequence listing to comply with the standard provided for in Annex C of the Administrative Instructions:

☐ the written form has not been furnished or does not comply with the Standard.

☐ the computer readable form has not been furnished or does not comply with the Standard.

Re Item V

Reasoned statement with regard to novelty, inventive step or industrial applicability;
citations and explanations supporting such statement

1. Claim 1

- 1.1. Document DE 196 33 973 (D1), which is considered to represent the closest state of the art, discloses an accessory arrangement for a refrigerator door, in which the accessories in the form of shelves (25). D1 discloses that the door (10) of the refrigerator has an internal wall (14) carrying retaining means (17, 18), which are identical to each other and disposed according to horizontal rows and vertical columns that are spaced from each other according to a predetermined standard, so that each retaining means can receive and retain, simply by fitting a respective engaging means (32) incorporated to one of the shelves to be removably affixed to the internal wall (11) of the door (10). The distances between the vertical columns of the retaining means and the widths of the shelves is designed so that the useful width of the internal wall can be fully occupied with multiple accessories adjacently disposed side by side, each shelf having at least one engaging means fitted in a respective retaining means (col. 4, lines 44-50).

The subject-matter of claim 1 differs from the accessory arrangement of D1 only in that the arrangement further comprises accessories in the form of can holders and wire frame shelves.

However, it is well known in the art to provide this kind of accessories in a refrigerator door in order to support different products (see for example document DE 295 19 436 U, which shows wire frame shelves or EP 1 030 141, which shows a refrigerator door provided with shelves and a can holder).

Therefore, the addition of can holders and wire frame shelves in the arrangement disclosed in D1 is matter of normal design and does not involve any inventive skill.

The subject-matter of claim 1 does not therefore involve an inventive step (Article 33(3) PCT).

INTERNATIONAL PRELIMINARY EXAMINATION REPORT - SEPARATE SHEET

International application No. PCT/BR 03/00143

1.2. Furthermore, claim 1 does not meet the requirements of Article 6 PCT because the subject-matter for which protection is sought is not clear. Claim 1 attempts to define an accessory arrangement by reference to a refrigerator door which is not part of the claimed arrangement (cf. PCT Guidelines, PCT/GL/3 III, 4.8a). In order to remove the lack of clarity caused thereby, the claim should relate to a refrigerator door with an accessory arrangement.

2. Claims 2 and 13

The additional features of dependent claims 2 and 13 are also disclosed in document D1. Therefore, also the subject matter of claims 2 and 13 does not involve an inventive step for the same reasons stated above.

3. Claims 3-12

Dependent claims 3-12 contain features referring to the different embodiments of certain details of the subject-matter of independent claim 1. These features appear to be neither shown nor suggested by the available prior art documents.

Therefore, the subject-matter of claims 3-12 would appear to meet the requirements of the PCT in respect of novelty and inventive step.
